SUMMARY:

The process for planning the International Energy Program Evaluation Conference began long before you arrived in Seattle. We know that issues will emerge in warmth of the summer that were not even on our radar screens as the snow fell and the winds blew. To insure that we bring you a critical, cutting-edge topic of the freshest vintage, we are holding off casting our nets to select the subject for this panel.

The topic and the panelists for this session will be announced at the Conference.
