Field of Study: Resource and Energy Demand Analysis

Currently, I am a graduate student in the Resource and Energy Demand Analysis program within the Applied Economics Department at the University of Wisconsin – Madison, I have taken many courses related to energy and gained a broad understanding of energy resources and energy economics.

I am currently working on my practicum project, which concerns electricity demand response with commercial and industrial customers' load data. In addition, I have a keen interest in energy industry and am ambitious to go into the industry and become an energy economist or analyst. I believe the attendance at this conference will help me develop a deeper understanding of energy efficiency programs and enrich my knowledge of how to better evaluate the cost-effectiveness of one program.
